[Maximum Marks : 90

Note :—(i) All questions are compulsory.

(ii) Attempt all parts of a question together.

SECTION—A

1. Explain the following with reference to context:

a. "What in me is dark

 Illumin, what is low raise and support;

 That to the height of this great Argument

 I may assert eternal Providence,

 And Justifie the wayes of God to men."

OR

"Round the decay

Of that colossal wreck, boundless and bare

The lone and level sands stretch far away."

- b. "I really don't see anything romantic in proposing. It is very romantic to be in love. But there is nothing romantic about a definite proposal. Why, one may be accepted. One usually is, I believe. Then the excitement is all over. The very essence of romance is uncertainty. If ever I get married, I'll certainly try to forget the fact."

OR

"Ignorance is like a delicate exotic fruit; touch it and the bloom is gone. The whole theory of modern education is radically unsound. Fortunately in England, at any rate, education produces no effect whatsoever. If it did, it would prove a serious danger to the upper classes, and probably lead to acts of violence in Grosvenor Square."

2×10=20

2. With respect to the character of Santiago, discuss Hemingway's concept that "a man can be destroyed but not defeated."

OR

Discuss the use of symbolism in The Old Man and the Sea.

SECTION—C

5. Read the following passages and answer the questions that follow :

a. Every moment the circle of scenery beneath me grew wider and wider, and the details of town and field, of hill and valley, got more and more hazy and pale and indistinct, a luminous grey was mingled more and more with the blue of the hills and the green of the open meadows; and a little patch of cloud, low and far to the west, shone ever more dazzlingly white. Above, as the veil of the atmosphere between myself and the outer space grew thinner, the sky, which had been a fair springtime blue at first, grew deeper and richer in colour, passing steadily through the intervening shades, until presently as black as the blackness of a frosty starlight, and at last as no blackness I had ever beheld.

- i. What is happening in this passage?
- ii. Why did the circle of scenery seem to grow wider to the author?
- iii. How does the author describe the change of colours of the sky?
- iv. Give a synonym for "indistinct".
- v. Give an antonym for "steadily".

b. I was only seventeen. After ten years at school in a remote valley in the moors of North Yorkshire, I had quite suddenly found myself in India, in Delhi. From the very beginning I was mesmerized by the great capital, so totally unlike anything I had ever seen before. Delhi, it seemed at first, was full of riches and horrors: it was a labyrinth, a city of palaces, an open gutter, filtered light through a filigree lattice, a landscape of domes, an anarchy, a press of people, a choke of fumes, a whiff of spices.

- i. Why was the author mesmerized with Delhi?
- ii. How does the author describe the contrasting images of Delhi?
- iii. Why does the author call Delhi a labyrinth?
- iv. Give an antonym for "anarchy".
- v. Give a synonym for "remote". 5×2=10
