Contents

On the cover

Voters in rich countries who fret about “affordability” should be careful what they wish for: leader, page 7. America’s affordability crisis is (mostly) a mirage, but its political impact is real: briefing, page 13. America’s economy looks ready to accelerate, page 53. Europe has an availability crisis, page 54

The world’s highest conflict

Brexit: slow-acting poison

Almost a decade after Britain voted to leave the EU, both sides are failing to grasp that the world has moved on and they need each other more than ever: leader, page 10, and analysis, page 39. Brexit has deepened the British economy’s flaws and dulled its strengths, page 41. Nigel Farage is Britain’s most European politician: Bagehot, page 42

OpenAI’s make-or-break year

The company’s cash burn will be one of the big bubble questions of 2026: leader, page 8, and analysis, page 46

Spiders on the icecaps of Mars

A seasonal bloom on the planet’s icecap is inspiring astrobiologists, page 60. The future of human space exploration depends on better biology: leader, page 9
